

Peak Metrology, jumavis Partner on 3D Metrology Distribution

WALDBRONN, Germany, May 7, 2026 — Peak Metrology, a provider of high-precision positioning technology, and jumavis, an optical quality control company, have formed a partnership for the distribution of positioning platforms for 3D metrology. In the collaboration, jumavis will serve as the distributor of Peak Metrology products in Europe. The partnership aims to expand Peak Metrology's presence in key industries such as semiconductor and electronics manufacturing, medical technology, and others.

From left: Erisalda Mehmeti, field sales engineer at Aerotech, RJ Hardt, president of Peak Metrology, Johanna Unrath, managing director of jumavis, and Tobias Wiesendanger, international sales manager at jumavis. Courtesy of jumavis.

The collaboration aims to set new standards in industrial measurement technology by combining innovation and market knowledge. As a partner of Peak Metrology, jumavis will develop customized solutions, test applications, and provide reliable support.

Peak Metrology is a subsidiary of Aerotech Inc.